The Daily Oregonian.

[illegible] e Pa n Speech

[illegible] has st [illegible] proprietor [illegible] ours [illegible] veteran [illegible] has been [illegible] to appear as [illegible] after the discer[illegible] doing him [illegible] the nature [illegible] our neighbor remarks on the subject [illegible] and reproof which might [illegible] pensed with We do not [illegible] tions and decline them with [illegible] from which they come

Democratic organs are never weary of inventing [illegible] against the integrity [illegible] Republican officials It is declared that the whole administration is in the hands of plunderers [illegible] invented stories of official delinquency [illegible] found a place in the Herald [illegible] ago we opposed this true and indisputable statement of the delinquency of Adair We did this to show that these Democrats are not quite such shining exemplars of official virtue as they claim to be The books of the Treasury Department show the delinquency we mentioned The alleged vindication by reappointment is rather lame since it shows that a Democratic administration would reappoint a delinquent rather than prove that the delinquency did not in fact exist And this is another proof that that party is not so celebrated for purity of administration as it pretends to be

The Bulletin with an effort it would seem to display the whole wealth of its adjectives even on a trifling subject bubbles over with gushing admiration of Adair whom it calls "an honored gentleman a good citizen an unselfish friend one of the truest lovers of his native land etc etc How true a lover of his native land he is obtained illustration from his conduct during the war when he became so disgusted with the spectacle of seeing rebels whipped into submission that he declared he wouldn t live in such a despotic country and actually took up a foreign residence How good a citizen he is was manifest by his being an out and out secessionist of which he has not yet repented As to his being an honored gentleman it may be remarked that the appellation might suit better if he would pay over to the Government the sum of $1 373 13 in which sum the books of the Department show that he has been delinquent for twelve or fifteen years

The Mayor and Common Council

At the last meeting of the Common Council the Mayor sent in a communication stating that in case it was the purpose of that body to persist in curtailing the prerogative of appointing the Standing Committees which has heretofore been exercised by the presiding officer he (the present Mayor) in justice to himself and out of regard for the rights of his successor would feel obliged to tender his resignation It will be remembered that at the previous meeting, after the Mayor had announced the usual Standing Committees, a motion prevailed that these Committees should be appointed by the Common Council Thus the Mayor s work was unceremoniously set aside We do not desire to enter into this subject with any warmth but to deal fairly with and speak respectfully of both sides It appeared to us at the time that the action of the Common Council was hasty as it certainly was unusual It was a rebuff to the Mayor which we cannot help thinking was undeserved If his arrangement of the Committees was such as did not suit the convenience and wishes of some of the members an adjustment might we dare say have been obtained by consultation and all would have been satisfied and none treated with discourtesy Mayor Wasserman all will admit has acted with a conscientious regard for the city s interests We give members of the Common Council credit for like purposes and actions But in common with many others we regret what appears in this case to have been hasty action, and would be glad to see the matter brought to an accommodation without the resignation of the Mayor if that result can in any way be attained

With a ghastly attempt at wit the Herald in its local columns cachinnates over the nomination of Greeley and relates a story of the great excitement that raged in Portland when the news was announced It says that though the news was not unexpected yet coming as it did it animated the hopes of the Democracy and Liberal Republicans The Herald s country readers ought to have witnessed this animation A corpse touched by a galvanic battery would show far more life and spirit As [illegible] go through the street every alternate Democrat [illegible] meet declares emphatically [illegible] for Greeley [illegible] Liberal Republicans [illegible] there are certainly not six in Portland [illegible] Liberal Republican is about as rare a bird as you find a [illegible] where [illegible] course there are very few chronic [illegible] who came out last spring [illegible] colors who pop feebly for Chappaqua but you easily can tell all of this class [illegible] found in any two counties of [illegible] on the fingers of your [illegible] The Herald tells us also that a Greeley and Brown ratification meeting will be held here [illegible] but it would be safe to guess [illegible] vigilant metropolitan police will [illegible] able to find it A more sorry looking set than our Democratic brethren just at this time [illegible] would be hard to find outside of the Valley of Humiliation To them in their present condition the old [illegible]

> A sorry [illegible]
> And [illegible]
> And many [illegible]
> To [illegible]

Now [illegible]

It may be [illegible] ernment has [illegible]

[illegible] What [illegible]

A combination for Reform

[illegible] already [illegible] South [illegible] ageold [illegible] the party [illegible] Presiden[illegible] want Mr Greeley elected Breckinridge [illegible] Hampton and [illegible] earliest [illegible] the Baltimore [illegible] has expre[illegible] success of the [illegible] bond Now it may be set down as a reliable fact that a majority of the American people do not want what [illegible] war When ever the [illegible] the front [illegible]

The [illegible] the Baltimore [illegible] rebelly [illegible] who hegan to [illegible] Democratic favor and so cut Democratic votes to elevate him to the Presidency [illegible] The brain the heart the soul of the Democratic party is the rebel element of the South with its Northern allies and sympathizers

This combination embraces the [illegible] South who have declared for Greeley and who are led by Breckinridge Hampton and men of that ilk and the corrupt elements of the Northern Democracy which are represented and led by the Tammany gang Hoffman Sweeny Hall and all the rest are strongly advocating Greeley They back him with all their corruptions and hope to steal the electoral vote of New York for him just as he says they stole it for Seymour in 1868 Brennan Sheriff of New York county has recently been detected in swindling to an enormous extent The aggregate runs up into hundreds of thousands The Times is publishing evidence of it just as it published the evidence of Tweed s and Hall s immense thefts some time ago But the Tribune is mum Brennan is one of the strongest of the Tammany leaders It wouldn t do to attack him for Greeley would lose one of his most powerful supporters and perhaps the support of the whole Ring And then he would have no chance whatever for the electoral vote of the State of New York

When the people see the [illegible] element of the South combining with the Tammany thieves for a common purpose they will be very likely to think that the alliance bodes no good to the country and will take care to defeat it They do not expect many reforms from such a combination

More "Honest" Testimony

And yet says the Herald the OREGONIAN affects to believe that President Grant believes in civil service reform Such faith in the face of such works passes our comprehension

Very well now let us call in as a witness a no less individual than Mr Horace Greeley Democratic candidate for President of the United States Before the Cincinnati Convention and also of course before Mr Greeley fell out with General Grant because he couldn t control the Federal patronage of New York in the interest of the Fenton faction to which Mr Greeley belongs Mr Greeley wrote in the Tribune

> Many will be surprised at the President s hearty indorsement of civil service reform but he has been there all along The President s summing up of the leading objects of his policy and especially his desire to secure a pure and untrammeled ballot must appeal cogently to the judgment and affections of the American people He is Abraham Lincoln s ideal successor and the popular heart beats in unison with his aspirations and his efforts

So it will be seen that we simply believe what Mr Greeley firmly believed only a few months ago When Mr Greeley wrote the above the policy and tendencies of General Grant s Administration were well defined and clearly established Grant has not deviated from them since On the question of civil service reform the President has been there all along says the Democratic candidate This is good testimony wherewith to answer such as the Herald

In an article prepared for a recent issue we wrote

> Many Democrats will be found to prefer Grant For proof of this let the reader recall how many of his Democratic acquaintance he has already heard declare themselves to that effect

The compositor converted this into ungrammatical nonsense thus

> [illegible] let the reader recall how many of his Democratic acquaintance he has already heard declare themselves to that effect

The only way an editor can avoid being made nervous by compositors blunders is by resolutely refusing to read his articles after their appearance in the paper

Already we hear of a movement to call a Democratic Convention in this State to select [illegible] to Louisville on the [illegible] of September [illegible] [illegible] not concur with the nominations made at Baltimore [illegible] We do not [illegible] State

[illegible] the great [illegible] 1864 [illegible] the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in speaking of [illegible] financial success said it was a perfect Vicksburg for Grant

Also an act to authorize the appointment of Shipping Commissioners [illegible] Circuit Courts of the United States [illegible] the shipping and discharging of seamen engaged in merchant ships belonging to the United States and for the further protection of seamen By this act [illegible] of the several Circuit Courts of the United States [illegible] seaports for which there is a Collector of Customs [illegible] appoint a commissioner for such port within their respective circuits [illegible] judgment may require [illegible] shall also be ports of entry [illegible] such Commissioners to be termed Shipping Commissioners Such Commissioners are required to give bonds in not less than five thousand dollars take an oath of office provide a suitable place for the transaction of business and may engage a clerk or clerks and appoint a deputy He shall also provide a seal which shall be prima facie evidence of the official character of all instruments and of the truth of the same upon which said seal shall be found The general business of a shipping commissioner shall first to afford facilities for engaging seamen by keeping a register of their names and characters secondly to superintend their engagement and discharge in the manner provided by the act thirdly to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of the men who are so engaged fourthly to facilitate the making of apprenticeship to the sea service The act provides that no wages due or accruing to any seaman or apprentice shall be subject to attachment or arrestment from any court, and every payment of wages to a seaman or apprentice shall be valid in law notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of such wages or of any attachment incumbrance or arrestment thereon Any person not in the employ of the United States going on board a ship entering a port before she is completely moored is subject to arrest and punishment

The act makes many more special provisions for the benefit of ship owners and masters and sailors and apprentices and was approved June 7 1872

DIED —At Baltimore July 11 1872 the Democratic Party of Congestive Passivism The funeral services will not take place till after the Presidential election next fall provided the body can be kept so long without stinking To provide for this contingency the mourners at Baltimore appointed an Executive Committee whose duty it will be to take frequent note of the condition of the carcass and to make such disposition of it as shall seem to be necessary at any time

For several years the deceased who was once rather a thriving respectable person had been leading excessively dissolute and disreputable courses had suffered misfortune defeat poverty starvation and debauch toward the last the friends of better days having fallen away the [illegible] sunk into confirmed habits of [illegible] ready to strike hands with any political [illegible] or buzzard who might propose [illegible] Without [illegible] acter or friends it was a fit subject for the public morgue and that is where it has gone No inquest —Oregon Statesman

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 13, 1872

MATRIMONIAL.—Vancouver, during the past week has had two clandestine marriages, one of which has had rather unpleasant results at ending. Two loving hearts with but a single thought, met, loved, and hated to wed without consulting the "parients." A few hours after the nuptials, the irate father went to the house where the newly married couple were stopping. He used, but to no purpose, all the persuasions possible to induce the daughter to return home with him. Failing in this, he next commenced to exercise his parental authority by the use of force. This plan didn't work worth a cent, for the young husband came to the rescue. Words followed, and then blows—the "old man" getting soundly thrashed for his ducal interference in "family affairs." After the severe lesson given him, the father relinquished all further claims to the possession of the person of his wayward daughter, and went home declaring "taint no use to attempt to separate any fool gal from the feller of her choice: they are all alike anyhow, and my Sally is as big a fool as the rest. She's went an' gone and married that feller agin my wishes, an' now she can jist live with him—that's all." The couple are gay and happy, and doing well at last accounts. Another interesting couple took pattern after the above twain, and started off yesterday from the same place. Their objective destination is probably Astoria, where they can easily take the steamship for San Francisco, or else some portion of Washington Territory, where a delightful honeymoon can be passed far away from the presence of wrathful "daddies" in search of vengeance. The father came to this city yesterday, intending to start down the river and intercept the truants, if possible. This pair have determined to embark early in matrimonial waters, the girl being a trifle over fourteen, and the young gentleman but little passed puberty. The father had better enact the part of wisdom by going quietly to his home and conclude to "jist let them rip."

A "STOP THIEF" CRY.—On the 31st of last May we published an item in this paper in reference to the donation of a tract of land near Canby for the purposes of a Methodist camp ground, by Mr. Holladay. The Bulletin, in the afternoon of the same day, stole the item bodily from the OREGONIAN and published it as original. Yesterday, in connection with the preparations now going on to clear the ground in question and fit it for the designated purpose, we incidentally mentioned the fact of the donation, giving the number of acres, etc., whereat the Bulletin says: "The sleepy fellow who makes the local news for the OREGONIAN announces this morning that the Oregon and California Railroad Company have recently donated forty acres of land situated near Canby to the Methodist Church for camp meeting purposes. The particulars of this donation was published in the Bulletin on the 31st of May last, and have been copied in every paper in Oregon, and now the OREGONIAN snoozer wakes up for a moment and adopts the item as his own." The "particulars of the donation," as published in the Bulletin, were taken from the OREGONIAN, as before stated, and an examination of the two papers will convince the reader that our brindle contemporary is not only guilty of plagiarism in the first instance, but has missed the truth about 40 rods in the quotation above made from his stale column, which is generally copied from the morning dailies.

NEW BOAT.—Work on the new steamer Thomas Lewis, at Smith's mill, now in process of construction, is progressing fast towards completion. This new craft is 75 feet long, 17 feet beam and 4½ feet hold. She will be a stern wheel. The frame for the keel has been finished, and a good portion of the deck floor laid. The boat will be propelled by two high pressure engines of six inches bore and four feet stroke. The boiler has been completed at the Oregon Iron Works, under the superintendence of John Nation. It has been made of the best quality of iron, is 16 feet long and 3 feet in diameter, has 47 tubes, with a heating furnace 429 square feet. The boiler will be placed in the hold next week. The present intention is to have the vessel in running trim by the 15th of next month. When ready to launch she will be as trim a little steamer as runs on the river. The entire construction of the vessel is under the superintendence of Mr. Stevens.

FOR TALENT.—George B. Waldron will depart this evening on the steamer for San Francisco. He goes to secure a variety troupe. On his return here, which will be in a few weeks, he will open the East Portland Park, and give performances once a week. He will also make arrangements to secure a pantomine troupe to come up and play during the State Fair. Mr. Waldron by his energy and tact has done much towards the elevation and maintenance of the drama in Portland during the last eight months, and deserves the encouragement and support of this public.

GREELEY BADGES.—Among the many newfangled articles which are now worn by Democrats and styled "Greeley," is a badge. It is in size about the diameter of a half dollar, of gold, and neat workmanship. In the center is a small miniature of the head of the "Sage of Chappaqua," with a pair of spectacles on, over the rims of which he seems to be very leisurely "squinting," as if measuring the chances of his ever warming the Presidential chair. That everlasting old white beaver sets off the great political figurehead.

WANING.—Exchanges, east, state that roller skating, once all the rage from the lowest to the most aristocratic circles, is rapidly losing grounds as a fashionable amusement. The mania has evidently abated in this city, whether to be revived this fall and winter, remains to be seen. Like other sensational American sports, it will probably follow in the track of the velocipedes of a few years ago. Dolly Varden and the present "Greeley" rage will fast imitate the examples of the past—go into oblivion and disuse.

STEAMERS.—The steamer California, at last accounts, was loading with stone at Bellingham Bay for the new Custom-house. She is expected to arrive here on Monday next, and is advertised to sail on Tuesday. The steamer Idaho has returned from Sitka to Victoria, and sailed on Thursday for San Francisco. Her place has been taken on the Portland-Sitka route temporarily by the George S. Wright. The steamer Gussie Telfair is at Orcas Island, receiving a cargo of lime for this port.

THE PAPER MAILS.—We have been without our usual supply of Eastern exchanges for two days past. Undoubtedly a number of sacks of paper mail are lying at Umatilla. If such is the case Postmaster Wakefield intends waking up the Postal Agent at San Francisco to his duty in the matter. Mr. Barstow, the Agent, promised two weeks ago to have the paper mails come by the southern route.

ARRIVED.—Sixty-three soldiers belonging to the Twenty-first Regiment were brought up on the Ajax. The steamer was met at the mouth of the Willamette by the Fannie Troup as she came up, and the troops transferred to the garrison, where they will probably be stationed. The band of music belonging to the Twenty first Regiment will arrive on the next steamer from San Francisco.

FOR VICTORIA.—We understand that Mr. J. B. Robinson will take his departure for Victoria on next Tuesday, accompanied by Vivian and a dramatic company, composed of members of the Waldron troupe. A brief theatrical season will be inaugurated at Victoria, at the close of which the troupe will probably visit the various towns along the Sound.

FILLING UP.—A railway has been temporarily laid from the Clarendon Hotel, south to E street. The ties have been placed on bents, scattered along at intervals above the water and on a level with the grade of the surrounding streets. The earth by tons will be "dumped" into the lagoon, until Couch's Lake will be a thing of the past.

GRAND JURIES.—Both the U. S. Grand Jury and the Grand Jury for Multnomah county are now in session. The former body have presented but one indictment and the latter none as yet.

FINES.—A number of cases were up before Judge Denny yesterday, and were disposed of in a summary manner. Most of the cases were drunks. The total fines amounted to $[illegible]

SERVICES RESUMED.—The new [illegible] is so far completed that Sunday services can be resumed. Rev. T. L. E[illegible] will preach from [illegible] at this place at [illegible] P. M.

LUNCH BASKET.—Paul Richter, opposite the postoffice, has received the Eastern lunch basket which is just the thing for picnics. He has a variety of willow ware.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—Yesterday afternoon a little son of Mrs. Strisbig, who resides on Alder, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and aged about eight years, made a very narrow escape from drowning. Several times during the afternoon the little fellow had asked his mother to allow him to draw some water from the well, which was situated in the back yard. There was no pulley nor windlass by which water could be drawn, nothing but a small tin pail to which was attached a slender rope. The mother was reluctant to comply with the request of the boy, as there was a little risk attending the effort, but she at last consented, and Willie started to draw his first bucket of water. The well was enclosed and covered by a sort of trap-door. Raising the lid of the platform, he was leaning forward and plying the cord slowly through his hands, when he suddenly lost his balance and fell headlong into the well. He uttered one wild cry which aroused the neighbors, who rushed to the scene. The mother was so paralyzed with fear that she could render no assistance whatever, but wring her hands and call for assistance. For a few moments the most intense excitement prevailed. A lady who had partially witnessed the whole occurrence and comprehended the dangerous situation of the little fellow, let down the cord to which was still attached the pail. The little fellow with a presence of mind worthy of a much older head, took resolutely hold of the cord, and the lady had succeeded in drawing him about half way out, when his strength failed him and he fell back into the water. Meanwhile Mr. Charles Gray, who resides near, hearing the commotion, procured a large rope and rushed to the scene. He quickly let the rope down and succeeded in lifting the thoroughly frightened and nearly drowned boy to the top, when he was handed over to his mother. Strange to say he sustained no injury save a few scratches on the arm. The well is 32 feet deep, and there is about 12 feet of water in it. In his descent, had he struck his head against the sides and been stunned, he would have most certainly been drowned before assistance could have been rendered. As it was, nothing but heroic presence of mind and timely aid saved the boy from death. The escape was so narrow that one can not think of it without a shudder.

FROM MOUNT HOOD.—A party of "old prints" (mostly attaches of the Herald) who started for the summit of Mount Hood about ten days ago, returned to this city on Thursday evening. They succeeded in reaching the summit in safety on the morning of the Fourth. The party encamped at the edge of the snow line on the evening of the 3d, and arising very early the following morning, they managed to reach the highest point after six hours and a half of laborious climbing. The last thousand feet was scaled with great difficulty and not without hazard. In many places the party were compelled to cut notches in the solid snow and ice before secure "footings" could be gained. A wide and deep crevasse crossed their path in one place, and caused the party much labor and time to get over. Ledges of rock were passed, through the crannies of which smoke was seen to constantly issue, and the stones in numerous places were uncomfortably warm. A most villainous and unbearable stench was emitted in some places, when the party halted to rest on their upward march. Even the snow tasted of brimstone, and every surrounding seemed to indicate the proximity of the infernal region. After reaching the summit, the parties remained about three quarters of an hour before commencing the descent. The sun had scarcely arose when the summit was gained. The view was said to be most sublime. As the sun shot his earliest rays through the masses of filmy clouds, and over the stretches of plains, hills and forests, the shadow of Hood was thrown clear across the Willamette Valley, and against the western horizon. Such another magnificent view could not be obtained anywhere in the State. Portland could be faintly descried with the aid of a powerful spy glass, and resembled a cluster of white objects not dissimilar to small pieces of cloth attached to a line. A cold, cutting wind soon compelled the party to begin the descent, which they did after giving three hearty cheers in honor of the National Anniversary. A splendid time was experienced by the party—hunting and fishing being the favorite amusements of the trip.

CRITICAL CONDITION.—We are informed that the condition of Mr. Flowerdew is quite critical at present. It will be remembered that this gentleman was severely injured some weeks since while out riding near the city. The effects of the injuries together with the warm weather, has so reduced his system, that grave apprehension are entertained by his attending physicians and friends as to the result of his illness.

SERVICES PROFFERED.—The following note was received yesterday by Mr. J. B. Robinson, which will best explain itself:

J. B. Robinson, Esq.—Dear Sir: In reply to your note, I shall be only too glad to aid you by singing at your benefit on Saturday evening.
Yours, truly, D. W. NESFIELD.

REDUCTION.—Arrangements have been made by which the Oregon and California Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets during the summer months to Aurora and return for one dollar and fifty cents.

AT VIRGINIA CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bates are now playing an engagement at Virginia City under Lawrence Barrett.

LOCAL BREVITIES

No real estate transfers yesterday to report.

The steamer Ajax sails this evening for San Francisco.

The Vancouver now lands at the foot of Washington street.

Hon. Joseph G. Wilson, Congressman elect, is now in this city.

Yesterday was a "wilter" to flowers, foliage and paper collars.

There will be no service to-morrow evening in the Unitarian church.

Dolly Varden has become obsolete, and Greeley toggery is all the rage.

M. F. Mulkey, Esq., City Attorney elect, will enter upon his duties to-day.

In consequence of the very warm weather the Columbia river is about on a stand still.

The steamer John L. Stephens will sail from San Francisco for this port this morning.

Ice is an indispensable article now in every family not furnished with a good well of water.

The Neptune Rowing Club held a meeting on Thursday evening. Nothing was done looking toward a regatta in August.

The Herald is authority for saying that an immense Greeley Brown ratification is contemplated in this city at an early day.

A genuine Greeley necktie—of a pale jealous yellow—was seen yesterday around the neck of a Republican. It was a union of political extremes.

The down street cotemporary appropriates the Council proceedings from the morning papers without either credit or comment, but, then, you know he's very enterprising. Sabe?

AMUSEMENTS.

THE BENEFIT.—J. B. Robinson, Esq., an old pioneer actor on the coast, will be the recipient of a grand complimentary benefit at the Oro Fino Theater this evening. Mr. Robinson has been before the public for the last fifteen years on the Pacific coast, and there are not many actors who have, during that period, been more widely or favorably known, and who have contributed more to the entertainment of audiences. The bill for this occasion will be one of the most attractive of the season. Prominent among the volunteer talent is the great Vivian, Carl Bosco—who, for tricks that are dark, is well noted—Prof. D. W. Nesfield, in some choice vocal selections, and the Waldron Troupe. The evening's performance will conclude with a beautiful two act comedy. An overflowing house can be confidently anticipated.

NESFIELD'S BENEFIT.—A larger or more fashionable and intelligent audience is not often seen, than were present at the new Masonic Hall, last evening, on the occasion of the complimentary benefit tendered Prof. Nesfield. The programme as advertised was carried out in a very creditable manner, and if applause is an evidence of satisfaction, the rendition of the various musical selections, etc., was heartily appreciated by the audience. The benefit was a complete success. The very large attendance was a most flattering testimonial of the good will and esteem in which the recipient is held by this public. Prof. Nesfield should feel proud of the overwhelming evidences of his popularity as shown last evening.

A MAN NEVER FEELS BETTER than when he is dressed [illegible] with the A No. 1 Cutter who has recently taken charge of the merchant tailoring department of Fishel & Roberts' clothing house, corner of First and Washington streets. [illegible] and other articles that go to make up the well dressed gentleman. Further comment is unnecessary.

Suggestions for Summer
It is of great importance that the system should be in a vigorous condition when the hot weather commences. The effects of a high temperature upon an enfeebled frame are always more or less disastrous. The loss of substance and the declension of nervous power, occasioned by excessive heat, can only be compensated by the active, healthful, and regular exercise of all the bodily functions by which the waste of nature is replenished and the vital energies renewed. The great utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an invigorating, regulating and tonic agent is universally acknowledged. As a stomachic [illegible] it is [illegible] [illegible] as an alterative and [illegible] the liver and the bowels [illegible] [illegible] sleep [illegible] [illegible] the value of [illegible] estimated [illegible] as medicinal. In fever and ague districts, and wherever the natural conditions are conducive to epidemic disease, it is considered the best safeguard against malarious infection, and the speediest remedy for intermittent and remittent fevers.

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.—1860—X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Gems of Poetry

ARISTOCRACY

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

WIT

[illegible]

MANKIND

Men are but [illegible]
Our appetites as apt to change as theirs,
And feel as [illegible]
And yet the soul shut up in her dark room,
Viewing so clear abroad, at home sees nothing;
But like a mole in earth, busy and blind,
Works all her folly up and casts it outward
To the world's open view.—John Dryden.

THE POWER OF TRIFLES.

There is many a gem in the path of life,
 Which we pass in our idle pleasure,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown
 Or the miser's hoard of treasure:
It may be the love of a little child,
 Or a mother's prayer to heaven,
Or only a beggar's grateful thanks
 For a cup of water given.

AN UTILITARIAN

He is a slave to science, he would pull
Great heaven to pieces and anatomize
Each fragment of its crystal battlements,
Weigh out its hymns, divide its light and class
The radiant feathers of archangels' wings!
Do we not know,—doth he not know, that still
Mysterious wonder aye must reign above us,
Struggle how'er we may? Doth he not know
That adoration and great wonder (like
Good deeds which bless the giver) ever lift
The soul above the dust, and strengthen us.
—Barry Cornwall.

ECHO

Sweet echo, sweetest nymph that liv'st unseen
Within thy airy shell,
By slow Meander's margent green,
And in the violet-embroidered vale,
Where the love-lorn nightingale
Nightly to thee her sad song mourneth well,
Canst thou not tell me of a gentle pair
That likest thy Narcissus are?
Or if you have hid them in some flowery cave,
Tell me but where,
Sweet queen of parley, daughter of the sphere,
So may'st thou be translated to the skies,
And give resounding grace to all heaven's harmonies.—John Milton.

TIMMS' STRATEGY.

(From the Overland Monthly for July

Mapes was chivalrous by nature: he believed in "seeking the bubble reputation, even in the cannon's mouth." His enthusiasm was aroused by the recital of stories of desperate daring; while he had nothing but contempt for even success won by crooked and indirect means. Timms, on the contrary, believed there was policy in war, and that the end justified the means, particularly if the end was attained. Companions from infancy, their lives had been spent in competition for scholastic and such other honors as the locality afforded, without even a momentary break in their friendship. But now, in early manhood, they struggled for a prize of incalculable value, with an ardor that threatened a complete rupture of friendly relations. The heart and hand of Eliza Reed, the neighborhood belle, were to be won; and to these none others might aspire, in the face of such formidable competition as that of Mapes and Timms. They alone—each by virtue of his own personalities and position—has a right to lay siege to the heart of that variable, irritable, imperious beauty, and for months the strife had gone on between them. Each one had called in play all his personal and social resources; for the local society had taken such an interest that it was divided into two factions, known as the Mapesites and Timmsites. And yet Miss Eliza could not be brought to express preference. If she rode with one today, she was careful to walk abroad with the rival to-morrow.

Coquetry is delicious to a woman; and Eliza would not have been feminine had she been in haste to make an election. Nevertheless, she did not intend to miss her opportunity. She knew that war could not always last, and feared that when one of the aspirants for her favor withdrew from the contest, the love of the other, wanting the stimulus of competition, would grow cold; hence, she had made up her mind, that, upon the first favorable opportunity, she would signify to Mapes that his suit, so often pressed, was at last accepted. The opportunity, it seemed, was not to be long wanting; for invitations were given out for an apple-bee in the neighborhood, and Eliza found means to convey an intimation to Mapes that she expected to meet him there, and counted on his escort home at the conclusion of the frolic.

The appointed evening, looked for with such nervous anticipation by Mapes, came at last. He felt that it was the most important of his life, and arrayed himself as only a rustic dandy can. His way lay across a meadow, through which ran—or, rather, loitered—a deep, narrow stream, spanned by a single log. It was so dark when he reached this primitive bridge, that he was compelled to feel his way slowly across. As he progressed it began to swing lightly—something very unusual—until he reached the center, when, to his utter confusion, it gave way, and he was launched into the water. He scrambled out, then suddenly the night became luminous with that lurid light to which people refer when they say, in speaking of some profane wretch, "He swore until all was blue." Whatever illuminating qualities this lurid light possessed, it had no drying ones, and Mapes was forced to bid adieu for the night to all hopes of plighting his troth to the loved Eliza.

In the rural districts Down East, in early times, the good people had such habits of industry and rigid economy that they seldom gave or attended parties, unless such as were cloaked under the names of raisings, quiltings, huskings, or apple-bees; thus, the apple-bee, fraught with momentous consequences to Mapes and Timms, was but a social party in disguise—a few apples being cored, quartered, pared and strung in the evening, for appearance's sake.

As usual, Eliza Reed was belle of the occasion. Good looks, entire self-possession, and a keen, satirical wit, always assured her that position; and this night she shone with unusual brilliancy, until, as the hours wore away, and Mapes came not, she began to lose herself in pondering why, and she at length asked Timms.

"Is your friend Mapes ailing?"

"I guess not," replied Timms, "I saw him to-day. He wasn't complaining."

"He denies himself much pleasure," said Eliza, "in not coming here to-night, for this is the place where we always have a good time. Aunt Judah knows how to give an apple-bee."

"You let Mapes alone," answered Timms, "he knows what he is about."

"What do you mean?" asked Eliza.

"Oh, I mean," replied Timms, "that Mapes is the prince of good fellows, and gets invitations where the rest of us don't."

"Where is Mapes to-night?" asked Eliza, now fully aroused.

"I don't know for sure," answered Timms. "He told me to-day there was special reasons for his coming here, but that he had an invitation to the rich and aristocratic Squire Huntoon's, who is celebrating his daughter's birthday, and that he didn't know which way he would go," and Timms turned away to the next prettiest girl in the room.

Petted young women are seldom logical or patient. When the party broke up Eliza accepted Timms' escort to her home, and before they arrived there she had consented to become Mrs. Timms. The next morning the engagement was announced, and preparation for the wedding was commenced. Timms was exultant—happy Timms.

For a few days Timms was not seen much in public—perhaps for want of courage to wear his blushing honors openly, perhaps for want of courage to meet other contingencies—who knows? But a man cannot make arrangements for his wedding from a fixed standpoint, and he was compelled to venture out. In a quiet and secluded by-way he met Mapes. The meeting to him was a surprise: he smiled feebly, and extended his hand. But Mapes, intent on business, strode squarely up to Timms and planted a vigorous blow on one of his eyes, which caused him to measure his length in the dust. Timms sprang to his feet and showed fight, but another blow on the other eye sent him to grass, where he continued to lie.

"Get up," said Mapes.

"You'll knock me down again," said Timms.

"Yes," returned Mapes, "I will."

"Then I won't get up," said Timms.

"You are an infernal scoundrel," said Mapes.

"I can't help your saying so," said Timms.

"You sawed the log," said Mapes.

"What log?" asked Timms.

"You sawed the log," repeated Mapes, advancing a step.

"Yes, Mapes," said Timms, "I sawed the log."

"Well, you needn't think," said Mapes, "that after you're married you're going to tell that story, and make me a laughingstock."

"I'll never speak of it," whined Timms.

"Perhaps you won't," said Mapes, "but I'm going to swear you before I get through. There is another thing: you won the woman by your dirty trickery, and I know it is in you to abuse her, so I'm going to swear you to treat her kindly."

"I'll swear," said Timms.

"Hold up your hand," said Mapes.

Timms held up his hand.

"Now, repeat after me: 'I, Silas Timms, solemnly swear that I will not bring to the knowledge of any human being that I sawed the log whereby Daniel Mapes fell into the creek and lost a wife, and further, that I will, she consenting, marry Eliza Reed, and always treat her kindly, so help me God.'"

Timms repeated the oath verbatim.

"Now, get up and go home," said Mapes. "I don't think you'll be married till your eyes get out of mourning, and by that time I'll be far enough away. But don't think I'll lose sight of you; and if you don't keep your oath, you'll see me."

Timms arose from the ground, shook off the dust, and walked away; but when he had secured a safe distance, he shouted back exultingly:

"Mapes, she's an angel!"

In twenty years Daniel Mapes had learned many things, among them this: Life is very much as we make it. In other words, the world is like a mirror, and looks at us with the face we present. It returns scowl for scowl, and smile for smile. It echoes our sobs and our laughter. To the cold it is as icy as the Northern seas; to the loving it is as balmy as the isles of the tropics. He had learned still a harder lesson; which was to forget the griefs, the sorrows, the wrongs and the hates of the past. The effect of this lesson was to make it appear that the lines, to him had fallen in pleasant places. His rotund form and firm muscle bespoke a good digestion, while a cheerful countenance told of mental peace. A fair woman named him husband, and children called him father. A pleasant home in the Santa Clara Valley was theirs; besides which Mapes had many broad acres of lands, as well as many head of stock running nearly wild, in the counties of Monterey and San Louis Obispo.

Once in each year the cattle that graze on California's thousand hills are gathered in bands at convenient places, to be claimed and branded by their owners, such assemblages being called rodeos. Mapes had been down across the Salinas Plains, in attendance upon a rodeo; and being on his return, jogging along on his mustang, he saw, far in the distance, but nearing him, an equal lone traveler. Slowly the distance between them decreased; and, as they approached Mapes, with California prudence, slipped his revolver on the belt which supported it, from his back round to his left side, bringing the hilt under the shadow of his bridle-arm, and within easy reach of his right hand. A near look showed him that he had no occasion for weapons; the coming man was of middle age, but his look was worn, weary, dejected and hopeless—in local phrase, his manner was that of one who had "lost his grip," and those who have met that terrible misfortune are never highway robbers, "grip" being the very quality needed in that hazardous pursuit.

The travelers met, with a long, inquiring gaze, when from their lips simultaneously burst the words, "Mapes!" "Timms!" After a moment of mute surprise Mapes, spurring his mustang, drew nearer Timms.

"So—we meet at last. I have been wanting to see you this many a year."

The movement seemed ominous to Timms, and he cried out: "Don't—don't shoot! I have no weapons. Besides, I have kept my oath—at least, as well as I could. I never told the reason why you didn't attend the apple-bee, nor even breathed a syllable about the sawed log—upon my oath!"

"I wasn't thinking about the ducking," said Mapes.

"Don't come any nearer," returned Timms. "I have always tried to use the woman well; but she wouldn't be used well. I have done my best to treat her kindly; but she wouldn't be treated kindly."

"It's no use to go over the grounds to me Timms."

"But," replied Timms, "you have no idea what that woman is. You wouldn't blame me if you only knew. She's browbeat me till I ain't half a man."

"So I see," said Mapes.

"No you don't see," said Timms. "You don't see half. Look at this scar"—taking off his hat and showing a long seam on his scalp. "That was done with the skillet."

"You have suffered," said Mapes.

"Suffered!" returned Timms.

"You ought to have sworn her, too. If you only knew how I have thought of you and of my oath to you, and how I have borne blows and been quiet; how I have been called a brute and a fool, and kept silent; how I have endured taunts and sneers, hunger and discomfort, without a word of reproach—you would forgive me; you wouldn't harbor thoughts of revenge."

"Thoughts of revenge!" answered Mapes. "Let us dismount, for I see my chance has come at last."

"Mapes, would you take the life of an unarmed man?"

"Timms, you're crazy. Let me explain. I have no wrongs to avenge. It isn't for vengeance that I have waited to see you. I heard about you often—know all your life and experiences; and I only want to tell you, to offer you a home and friendship, employment and opportunities for prosperity, here in California. I owe you no debt but one of gratitude for the inestimable service you did me by that little job of carpenter-work, and that I mean to pay. Come with me." He took Timms' horse by the bridle, turned him about without remonstrance, and they travelled on in silence.

After awhile, Timms raised his eyes timidly from the ground, and said:

"Mapes, she's the devil!"—Overland for July.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY EVENING, July 12, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 11[illegible]

Portland Legal Tender rates [illegible] buying, [illegible] selling.

One can scarcely conceive the extent of improvement going on throughout the State until he makes a tour to see for himself. Especially through all the Wallamet [illegible] long strides. It is seen in the increasing area of land brought into cultivation, in the erection of new houses, barns, shops and mills, in the growth of the towns and villages, and in repairs and "betterments" generally. Five years time has made a vast difference in the appearance of the country. The growth is now only fairly beginning, and [illegible] years more will bring still greater changes.

A recent number of the Rural Press, San Francisco, contained a well timed article on the evils of the policy of commission fruit dealers [illegible] who stand as middlemen between producers and consumers and make the largest share of the profits [illegible] production. These men [illegible] upon the fruit they buy, and when there [illegible] frequently dump large quantities into the bay rather than sell it at a lower figure and thereby establish rates that would prove less remunerative.

San Francisco papers of the 9th report the latest Wool advices from the consumptive markets a little more encouraging. At the public sales in London there was more inquiry from French buyers, and the firmness noted at the opening of the sale had been recovered. At New York there was increased inquiry for fleeces with a fair degree of activity. There was no [illegible] stock of new clip domestic, except Texas. Factors were still asking 55@60c for Michigan, and [illegible].

The foreign merchandise imports at New York for the eleven months ending June 1st were [illegible], against [illegible] for the same time in the previous fiscal year, and $265,402,[illegible] in 1869-70. The merchandise exports from New York for the same periods were $205,[illegible] in 1871-72, $20[illegible] in 1870-71, and $180,544,[illegible] in 1869-70.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—In the absence of transactions, and a drooping market, both in Liverpool and San Francisco, it is hardly possible to give quotations. A decline in prices below last quotations is inevitable. The San Francisco market will not bear more than $1 75 per cental, and it is believed will go still lower. High rates of freight to [illegible] markets add to the downward tendency. [illegible] will be large and many fields will be cut next week. We should not be justified in quoting higher than $1 [illegible] to $1 50 per cental.

FLOUR—Market weak, [illegible] Standard brands [illegible] per bbl; [illegible] country, $[illegible]; [illegible] $[illegible].

OATS—There have been few transactions [illegible] very small [illegible] at $2 [illegible] per cental.

BUTTER—Good Butter is still wanted at [illegible]

EGGS—[illegible]

WOOL—Market still lacks life [illegible] Wool [illegible] market at [illegible].

And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in the dullest times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by keeping my business continually before the public, it has secured me many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

CITY ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ordinance No. 1182.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING H. R. LEONARD, his associates and assigns, to construct a bridge across the Willamette river, with diverging roadways and footways.

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States [illegible]

[illegible]

Now, therefore, the city of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That in order to provide for the erection of a bridge across the Willamette river within the time and in accordance with the provisions specified in an Act of Congress entitled "An Act giving the consent of the United States to the erection of a bridge across the Willamette river, in Oregon, from the city of Portland to the east bank of said river," approved February 2, 1870, the consent of the city of Portland is hereby given to H. R. Leonard, his associates and assigns, to build and erect their railroad bridge, with diverging roadways and footways and double draws, over and across the Willamette river, between the city of Portland and the east bank of said river, upon the terms and conditions in this Ordinance set forth and provided.

Section 2. That H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns shall, within [illegible] months from the date of this Ordinance, present to the Common Council a detailed map of the river at the proposed site of the bridge and for the distance of one mile above and below the [illegible], exhibiting the depths and currents at all points of the same, and the Common Council, if satisfied that the proposed location is such that said bridge when built will not obstruct, impair or injuriously modify the navigation of the river, or obstruct any street or streets of the city of Portland, nor render necessary any change of the established grade of any street or streets, [illegible] thereof, shall certify the same to the Secretary of War for his approval [illegible].

Section 3. At or before the time of presenting the map of the proposed site of the bridge as provided in Section two of this Ordinance, the said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns shall also furnish to the Common Council a detailed plan of said proposed bridge, which said plan shall be for a bridge with [illegible] roadways and carriageways, double draws [illegible] sufficient fully to accommodate the public travel, and also to provide [illegible] known as the broad gauge [illegible] and said plan and specifications, if satisfactory to the Common Council, shall be by them approved and transmitted to the Secretary of War for his approval or rejection, as provided in the Act of Congress.

Section 4. Within ten days of the receipt of notice from the Secretary of War of his approval of the plan and location of said bridge, the said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns shall proceed to the construction of said bridge, conforming strictly to the approved plan and location, and not otherwise, and shall complete the same within one year from the date of such approval, provided that if the building of any part of that portion of the bridge intended for a railway track can be postponed until such time as the same may be needed for use, without materially affecting the strength or capacity of the bridge for other travel, the said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns are authorized to omit the building of that portion, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War.

Section 5. In case the construction of any part of that portion of the bridge intended for railroad purposes is postponed as provided in Section four (4) of this Ordinance, the necessary work for the completion thereof shall be commenced as soon as practicable after receiving notice from any railroad company needing and wishing to use the same, or from the Common Council, and the work shall be completed in accordance with the original plan, without unnecessary delay.

Section 6. Upon producing satisfactory evidence to the Common Council that the roadways and footways of said bridge are completed in conformity with the original plan, and are in all respects safe and ready for travel, the said H. R. Leonard, his associates and assigns, shall open the same and keep said roadway and footway open at all times, except when absolutely necessary to close the same or any portion thereof for repairs, and the said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns shall keep said bridge and every portion thereof in good condition and safe for public travel while the same may stand.

Section 7. So far as the Common Council has the right to fix the same, the said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns are authorized to charge and collect tolls for crossing said bridge not to exceed the following rates:

For each head of sheep or hogs, five cents [illegible]
For each head of loose cattle, horses or mules [illegible]
[illegible]

Provided, that nothing contained in this section [illegible]

Section 8. [illegible]

Section 9. [illegible]

[illegible] and all the rights and privileges accruing to said H. R. Leonard and his associates and assigns thereunder [illegible]

[illegible]

Section 4. If before the expiration of five days from the giving [illegible] before the selling of any such animals, as hereinafter provided, the owner of any such animal or animals, or his legal representative, shall claim the same and pay all legal costs, charges and expenses for taking up and keeping, the Chief of Police shall deliver up such animal or animals to such owner or his representatives.

Section 5. If any such animal or animals shall not be claimed before the expiration of five days from the giving of such notice, the Chief of Police shall proceed to sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, having first given notice of the time and place of such sale in a daily newspaper published in the city, for at least forty-eight hours prior to the time of sale, and after deducting his legal fees and all costs, charges and expenses of taking up, keeping and selling, shall pay the proceeds into the City Treasury.

Section 6. The Chief of Police, besides the cost of keeping any such animal or animals, shall be entitled to and receive, as his legal fees, [illegible] dollars per head for all animals taken up, and ten per centum of the proceeds of all sales, which fee or sum shall not exceed twenty-five (25) dollars, and five per cent. when the amount of such proceeds shall exceed such sum.

Section 7. If the owner of any property so sold, or his legal representative, shall at any time within one year [illegible] make satisfactory proof of his ownership, he [illegible] be entitled to receive such proceeds deposited [illegible] Treasury.

Section 8. [illegible] are hereby repealed.

Passed the Common Council June 27, 1872.
W. S. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.
Approved July [illegible], 1872.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, No. 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with [illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, [illegible] and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible, life-destroying maladies; see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, [illegible] about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by other of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written guarantee, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By enclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus diplomas [illegible] dupe the unwary [illegible] self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry [illegible] advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten [illegible] no safety in trusting [illegible] who and what they are [illegible] bogus [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. [illegible] his offices of [illegible] to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, or Box [illegible], San Francisco. [illegible] Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER [illegible] ON THE LETTER.

[illegible] Dr. Gibbon's [illegible] form DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.
